Dear Colleague

The pain management team at the Royal Marsden Hospital has developed a new series of four conferences for 2019. These Conferences cover all aspects of modern pain practice including cancer pain, chronic pain and acute pain, as well as the latest developments in the use of Opioids (12th Royal Marsden Opioid Conference).

We have gathered together prominent speakers from the UK and around the world to provide the most stimulating talks on these aspects of pain management.

We cordially invite you to attend these conferences, which will be beneficial for all medical and nursing practitioners involved in the management of pain, palliative care and anaesthesia.

Conference Aim

The aim of this conference is to outline the latest developments in cancer pain management. The conference is divided into four parts:

• Part 1 covers the neurobiology of cancer pain, neuropathic pain and bone pain, and then focuses on the evidence for specific treatments of these conditions.

• Part 2 outlines the problem of cancer pain in the UK, and also covers the impact of IT systems in pain and palliative care.

• Part 3 reviews treatments for cancer pain including oncological treatments and the use of nerve blocks.

• Part 4 is a session on the impact of cancer pain throughout the world.

We hope that this conference will update delegates on the latest developments in cancer pain, and look forward to welcoming you in April 2019.
